

Gil I. Wolfe, MD, is Professor and Chairman of the Dept. of Neurology at University at Buffalo Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences, State University of New York (SUNY), where he holds the Irvin and Rosemary Smith Chair. He attended medical school at University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and trained as a neurology resident and neuromuscular/electromyography fellow at the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center. He is board certified in neurology, neuromuscular medicine and in clinical neurophysiology.

Dr. Wolfe's clinical activity and academic investigation focus on neuromuscular disorders, particularly on myasthenia gravis and peripheral neuropathies. He has authored or co-authored 150 papers and 25 chapters on neuromuscular disorders. He is a Fellow of the American Neurological Association and American Academy of Neurology. He was named a University at Buffalo Distinguished Professor in 2017 and a SUNY Distinguished Professor in 2022, and in 2018 was awarded the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Creative Activities.